FALSE PRETENSES. A Louisville Detective Works Up a Cincinnati Case.

Detective Booksr has just returned from Nashville, where he did some valuable work in the way of recovering goods for a Gineimastifirm. Several days ago a man named. W. B. Byers went to Peppers & Co., hargees makers, in Cincinnati, and prevailed upon them to sell him Solo worth of harness and several thousand dollars worth of buggies, taking in. buggles and the harness were loaded on the ears and shipped to Montgomery, Ala., to be exhibit-ed and sold at the fair. Mr. Byers came ahead, but waited at Nashville for the goods. In the messation the Bins of Peppers & Co. ascertained that the check could not be easied, and had the shippent stopped in transitu. Vari-ous rumors now to into circulation concerding Mr. Byers. He was argueted and kept in confine-ment at the Makwell House, Nashville, being too much of a gentleman to go to jail. He protested that he was both solvent and imporent, and use graphed for a suistance to different firms in Mo bile and New Orbana. They answered courte ously enough but declined advancing an noney. He was advised to give up all the good step which he was already forced to do. His site was with him, and was much distressed as he situation in which he was placed. A check adorsed by the firm of Pappers & Co. had been diven for their toard but at the Henry House and this, too, was dishonored. The authorities finally placed his in jall, influenced by the rumors and repers and evidence of randaity which seemed to come from all quarters.

Detective Booms, of this city, took the case in hand, collected tegether all the proofs, and was going to bring the prisoner to Louisville, but he was released un a writ of habeas corpus. The property, boweve, was saved, and turned over in Mr. Sleigh, the partner in the firm of Pepplars & Co. Detective Booker deserves much ordit
